

2023 County Property Tax Report

The taxpayer funds the majority of county government via the property tax, or ad valorem tax, which is the largest revenue source for Texas counties.

Tax Code Section 5.091 requires the comptroller's office to prepare a list that includes the total tax rate imposed by each taxing unit in Texas, as reported to the comptroller by each appraisal district. The tax rates included are for the year in which the list is prepared and must be listed alphabetically according to the county or counties in which each taxing unit is located, and by the name of each taxing unit. The Comptroller's Property Tax Assistance Division publishes this list no later than Jan. 1 of the following year, as required.

The 2023 data including county rates and levies is available in full at <https://comptroller.texas.gov/taxes/property-tax/rates/index.php>, with the following categories listed for each county:
